

I would like to support XM Satellite Radio. I have been a member of this Satellite Radio for over a year now. I own 2 cars with the XM Satellite Radio and I recently purchased one for my office.

I travel all the time to the Metro areas and am always tuning in to XM stations to get the current traffic and weather reports. The local stations seem to be more focused on TALKING about what they are doing rather than getting to the point and reporting where the areas to avoid are while driving and what the weather is going to be like.

I hope that the FCC will consider what it is thinking about doing, and instead of hitting those who strive to make traffic & weather easily accessible they should be making the other companies improve their system to be as effective as the Satellite stations.

Thank you
